The Ciarla

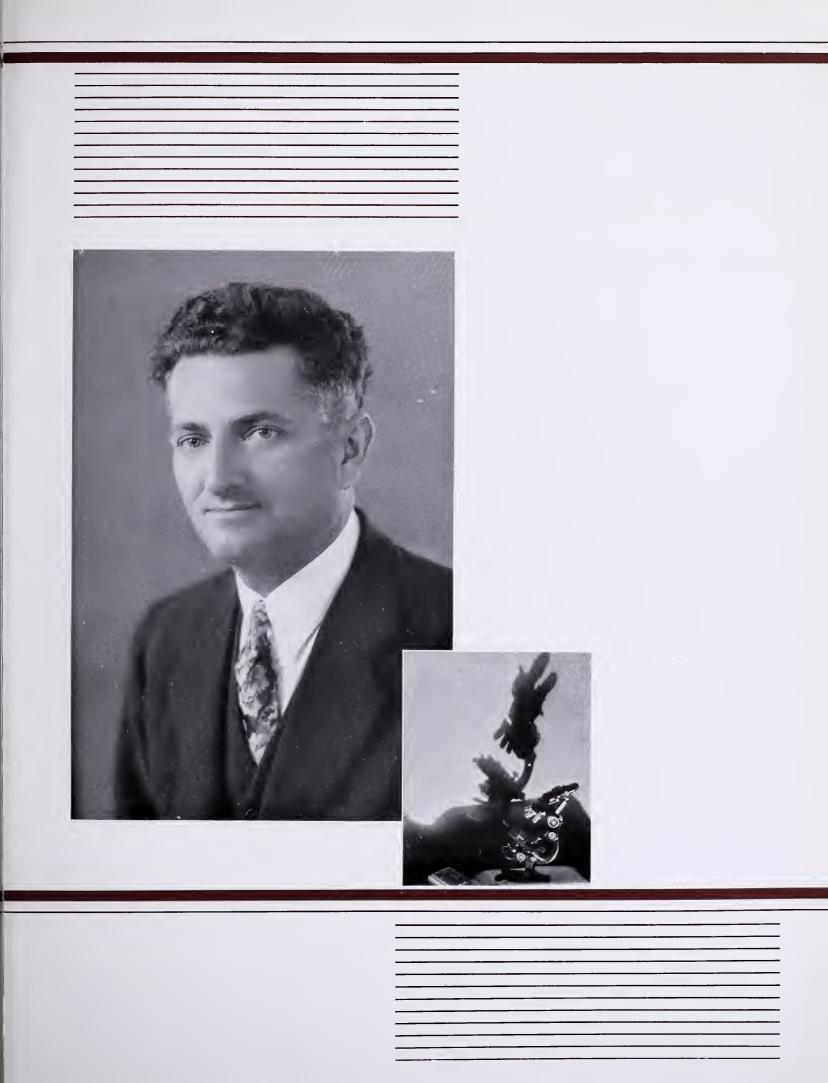

Published by Muhlenberg College Allentown Pennsylvania

Jo DR. JOHN V. SHANKWEILER, because he is so completely representative of the ideals of Muhlenberg, a scholar, athlete, and gentleman, and because he has lent so freely of his time and effort in behalf of our activities, do we most respectfully dedicate this, the 1936 "Ciarla".

Dedication

Toreword

We most sincerely believe that the one and primary purpose of any annual is that it represent fully and faithfully the manifold activities, any one of which is an integral part of the life of a College. In so doing, we but hope that the 1936 "Ciarla" merits your approval and that at some time now or in the future it may prove a means of the revivification of fond recollections.

To the Class of 1936, Greetings:

You who have so successfully published this volume of the Ciarla have asked me for a message. In availing myself of this appreciated opportunity, I shall be brief.

You men, who are now upper classmen and before long will be graduates, do you ever feel obligations to those who have made your education possible? To whom do I refer? Yourself, your parents, the college, the church, society in general. How will you repay these?

Will you repay yourself for your efforts and sacrifices and expenditure of time and money by being true to yourself, and by maintaining high ideals of manhood and nobility of character? Your obligations to your parents can best be paid in the same way. Give them reason to be proud of your achievements; but your upright character and fine young manhood will give them still greater satisfaction.

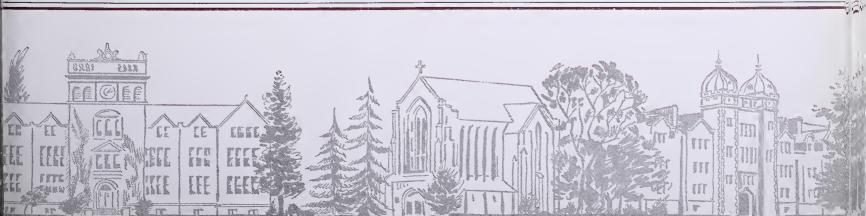

Your education costs more than you ever pay. Who pays the difference? It comes from gifts, from interested persons and largely from the endowment fund, which is made up of gifts of men and women who loved and believed in the college, and thought it worth while to give a Christian education to other people's children. The buildings too are due to the gifts of others who believed in education. The college has tried to give you the best it could afford, with its means and resources, in training the body and the mind, the heart and the soul. Will you acknowledge the obligation and repay it by a living loyalty? Will you help it with your efforts and your means as far as you can, so that it may provide a still better educational opportunity for the men who come after you?

As the college belongs to the church, the church does much for its welfare and success, which means your welfare and educational equipment. The college has welcomed students of other faiths freely; and we should like each man to have the same feeling toward his church which we wish our own to feel toward the church which made this college possible. Will you acknowledge the obligation by loyalty to your church, a loyalty that shows itself in reverence and service?

The right of colleges to exist at all may be traced back to elements in the structure of the society in which we live. Do you feel this obligation to society in general, to the state and nation to serve them in every possible way, to do your part in improving them, to help solve their problems, to make them better than you found them, so that the world (as far as you have contact with it) may be a better and happier place in which to live?

If you will try to do these things, you will have learned the purpose and value of education; and Muhlenberg College will be proud to say of you: These are my sons.

• The college community is, after all, an integrated organization, with certain interdependent parts, the success of the whole being directly proportional to the degree of harmony with which these parts function.

The administration has presented to the student body material and inspiration of indubitable worth. All are scholars in their own particular field, and their guidance makes it unnecessary to explain that they be placed first in the composition of any annual.

From the governing body we must proceed to the body of the governed, which is in a constant state of flux, but all of whom, in their short stays are making certain contributions to the growth or sustenance of the organization. In their midst many lasting friendships are made, which, unfortunately become almost severed with the expiration of college days, due to the wide scattering of the individuals.

It is with mingled regrets at parting, and fond wishes for future success, that we tender our farewells each year to the seniors, and recognize that but a short interval of time must pass before all of us have joined them.

Gone is not forgotten, reunions invariably occur, but all too infrequently, and as we record these individuals in the few pages to come, it is with the hope that such a record will from time to time revive four years of happiness.

NE of the most interesting things that one can observe today is a large railroad station or terminus. A place where many trains converge from hundreds of outlying points, a place where they stay for a time, then go out again in many various directions to as many varied and different places. Some of these trains are locals, playing a small part in a great system, while still others are fast, important express trains that connect other great cities and stations.

The colleges of today and the students of these colleges are like stations and trains. Here from many points and directions come many trains or students. They pause for a time, take on passengers of learning and then go out again in many different ways. Some students are like the local trains, unimportant doing a small bit in the great system, while others are leaders in their particular field.

As Seniors we shall soon have to leave this station that we have been at for four years. We shall soon have to choose or become various types of trains. Some of us will go out as locals and only make short, slow trips in life, not counting for much. Others will become great, important, fast moving units in the world of today. And yet there are stations ahead where we may change trains if we so desire, if we are not satisfied with our journey. But whatever we may become or whatever direction we may take, let us never forget our stay at the station of Muhlenberg and our fellow passengers, the class of 1935.

AGAIN graduation, with its mingled joys and sorrows, is about to produce a very significant change within our college world.

This transformation process means that to us, the coming Senior class, is bequeathed the direction of Muhlenberg campus life in its many phases, with all that it embodies—leadership, example, praise and blame.

The present graduating class has achieved a most enviable record, a circumstance which renders our task one of twofold gravity. Their work is successfully completed, whereas, since we have only recently been initiated into our new duties, our work now begins. The realization of the great responsibilities confronting us becomes somewhat awe-inspiring.

Each year, it seems, has sped on with increasing rapidity, as our mounting duties and number of activities have consumed an ever-increasing proportion of our time. However, these duties and activities have meanwhile been preparing us to meet the situation at hand. It is the climax when we must, in turn, exert our initiative preparatory to that struggle awaiting us in the world beyond the college, where the ultimate attainment of one's goal depends on individual merit and on that alone.

The intimate associations and friendships which we have formed on the campus, whose inestimable value we are beginning to realize, will further our spirit of cooperation, enabling us to fully meet our new responsibilities, and thus, as Seniors, add to the glory of our Alma Mater and ourselves as the class which will point the way toward still greater achievement. NE half of our college lite is over! The two short years behind us present a kaleidoscopic array of impressions to the reflective mind. We have crowded a great variety of experiences into this short period of time. Friends, acquaintances, books, new ideas, startling facts, dances, doubts, hopes, disappointments, and satisfactions have all played a part in our lives thus far. The past is now a page in the diary of time; the future lies directly before us.

When we consider the man of leadership in affairs today, we consistently find that he is not the product of an intellectual machine; milled, stamped, polished, and then dumped upon society. He is, on the other hand, the man whose stock-in-trade enables him to create, to originate—both things, and ideas. Emerson assures us that not knowledge, but the ability to use one's mind is power. This, the ultimate goal of college training, should ever be uppermost in our minds.

Sincere efforts have been made to instill the college "spirit" into the disinterested student. Often we may fail to see our part in the broader college life. However, it is not merely our duty to take part in the college planned activities. It becomes a most useful stepping stone in our preparation for life. When we serve Muhlenberg well, we serve ourselves best.

Finally, let us lend our cooperation to the undertakings of our class, and the enterprises of the college. The Muhlenberg of today is in our hands; may we account for ourselves worthily.

Freshman President's Message

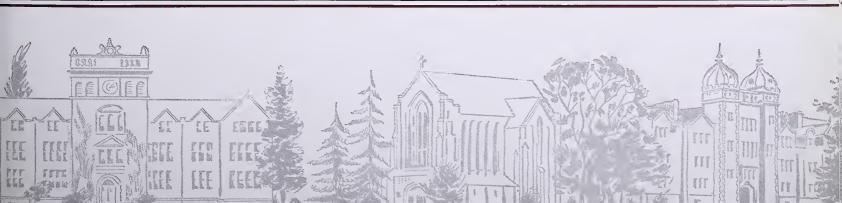

S slowly and still as surely as the winter turns into spring and the spring into summer, we, as freshmen at Muhlenberg, have bridged the gap between the secondary schools and college. We have crossed the boundary line of day and have plunged into the dim unknown of night.

During our years of high school or preparatory school, we gathered friends and honors simultaneously. We were the salt of the earth and the reason for its rotation. This was our belief. Our advent into college, however, tore our beliefs asunder. The transformation was curt and harsh, but complete.

We lost the idea of importance and realized the true insignificance of ourselves. In this new world we were unknown, unheralded, unsung. We began again from the beginning, making new friends and striving for new honors. Our past record was disregarded, and we were adjudged at our face value.

The winter has passed; this is the spring. Just as the trees burst forth into new life, so are we budding forth in a new realm. The skies have clouded over many times, and it has rained, but we have grown. Just so, do the grass and the trees and the flowers grow, strengthened by the rains. In a few months it will be summer. We will be sophomores and we will have closed the gap between our change of life.

The field of competition, designed to mold men, and to most favorably represent Muhlenberg on court, track, diamond and gridiron as an organization of sportsmen and sportsmanlike ideals.

Resume of the 1934 Football Season

N direct contrast to the excellent showing made by the football team the previous fall when the 1933 gridders won six battles and lost only three games, last year's Cardinal and Gray eleven turned in but two victories and one tie game against six defeats.

Both triumphs of the season were registered on consecutive Saturdays—a 25 to 7 win from Lebanon Valley and a 7 to 0 decision over Albright, the latter being a night game on Muhlenberg's field. The Muhls managed to gain a 7-7 deadlock with Ursinus which earlier in the season had downed the University of Pennsylvania, 7 to 6, in addition to subduing a strong Franklin and Marshall eleven, 6 to 0. The Ursinus and Lebanon Valley tilts, the best played games, were considered the outstanding battles of the season.

Two new coaches made their debut on Muhlenberg's gridiron last fall. Paul Murphy was named varsity backfield coach and assistant to Head Coach John L. Utz. Murphy, a former backfield star at the University of Pennsylvania, gained recognition for his coaching ability at the University of Kansas before coming here. Replacing Alan Young as the freshman mentor was Owen "Jeff" James who won varsity letters in both football and basketball while at Bucknell University the previous two years. His Cardinal and Gray grid yearlings won their only games of the season—victories over both the Lehigh and Lafayette frosh elevens.

A marked change in the 1934 coaching staff was the absence of Albert "Pop" Kreuz, who had developed the fine backfield of Weiner, Wavrek, Gramley, and Koehler. Last season saw the first three members of this quartet missing from the line-up through graduation, in addition to Kreuz whose coaching tactics were highly instrumental in chalking up victories over Penn State and Lehigh in 1933.

Utz, Coach

Renwick, Trainer

The performance of all the players was but mediocre during the greater part of the past season and in several cases the team members failed to measure up to their previous years performance. Five sophomores managed to gain regular positions on the varsity eleven and were awarded the M sweater at the annual grid banquet held last December. These men, who have two more years to perform on the gridiron for Muhlenberg, are Ed "Scrapper" Farrell and Willie Laing, both outstanding for their stellar work in the backfield; Lloyd Zimmerman, husky tackle, who capably filled Willie Bloom's position when the latter giant was made over into a backfield man; Tom Kennedy, a promising pivot man, and Grant Brown, miniature wingman, who made many an opposing punt receiver look foolish. This quintet will have a good deal to do with the team's showing on the gridiron in 1935. "Jiggs" Koehler and "Bull" Geschel were two junior backfield men who showed up well during the greater part of the season. Harold Weiner, another junior, was used frequently in relief roles on the line.

Hodgkinson Breinig, Mgr. Booth

Seventeen seniors played their last year of football for their Alma Mater and they too were rewarded with the presentation of the varsity M sweater at the close of the season. Outstanding for their work on the line were Tom Watkins, and "Reds" Young, noted for their midget-build, but who contributed three years of smashing play at guard positions for the Cardinal and Gray. Chris Riley played at tackle regularly for a greater part of the season, while Willie Bloom, a regular tackle during 1932 and 1933, was converted into a backfield man after the first two games last season. "Russ" Keebler, Joe Rodgers, and "Beans" Deitrich played heads-up football at the end positions.

In the backfield Johnny Yarshinski, along with "Jiggs" Koehler, did some great blocking work for Farrell and Laing, the two main ball-carriers. Yarshinski was easily the outstanding worker in this department and was rewarded for his efforts at the close of the season by being elected Honorary Captain by his teammates. In announcing his election at the annual grid banquet, Coach Utz concluded his speech by stating: "Johnny was one of the greatest sixty-minute football players Muhlenberg ever had . . . sixty-minute football players is what we want." Gene Lepore and Roger Rohn contributed their share of football ability to the Cardinal and Gray backfield forces, Lepore being credited with Muhlenberg's only touchdown scored against F. and M. in the massacre.

At the close of a season of adversity both varsity and freshman team members were feted at the annual grid banquet held at the Americus Hotel and sponsored by the College Athletic Committee. At the dinner, attended by more than 150 guests, the Committee gave 45 awards to the players, and gifts to members of the coaching staff. Lawrence H. Rupp, member of the Athletic Committee, acted as toastmaster for the evening and introduced the principal speaker, Judge Chester A. Rhoades, a former Muhlenberg student back in 1905. Other speakers of the evening were Prof. Henry I. Soltys, college band director; Coach Crum, of the Allentown High School; George R. Holstrom, former Muhlenberg athletic coach; Dean Horn, Charles Esser, president of the Alumni Association; Prof. Albert C. H.

Fasig, Alumni secretary, and Richard Betts, guest alumnus from Reading.

To George B. Balmer, of Reading, attorney and member of the College Athletic Committee, was assigned the task of handing out twenty-five varsity sweaters and two letter awards. The following players were the honored recipients: Seniors: William R. Bloom, Lavalette, N. J.; Charles Cressman, Allentown; John A. Deitrich, Reading; C. Russell Keebler, Riverside, N. J.; Gene J. Lepore, Sea Isle City, N. J.; Max Levine, Newark, N. J.; Lloyd A. Moyer, Allentown; Si Podolin, Camden, N. J.;

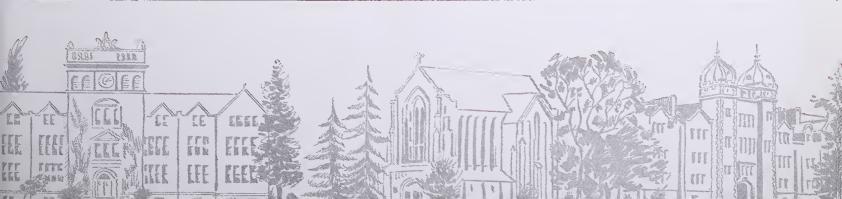

Chris H. Riley, Millville, N. J.; Joseph P. Rodgers. Allentown; Roger C. Rohn, Catasauqua; Neil V. Steigerwalt, Lehighton; Fred E. Storch, Catasauqua; Thomas G. Watkins, Wilkes-Barre; John Yarshinski, McAdoo; Donald M. Young, Bethlehem; Joseph J. Zamites, Wilkes-Barre. Juniors: Alfred Geschel, Allentown; George R. Koehler, Bethlehem (letter award). Sophomores: Grant Brown, Hempstead, L. I.; Edward F. Farrell, Catasauqua; Thomas L. Kennedy, Allentown; William V. Laing, Cliffside, N. J.; Lloyd N. Zimmerman, Mechanicsburg. Managers: Alfred O. Breinig and Louis J. Marquet, Philadelphia.

Muhlenberg vs. West Chester

For two weeks prior to this opening tussle, Coach Utz had worked almost daily with his husky squad of veterans, many of them having been lettermen for the two years previous. Placing a Teachers College on the schedule for the opening game proved to have a bad psychological effect, for the majority of students as well as team members expected a walk away. Quite the contrary proved to be the case with West Chester's powerful eleven holding the Muhls scoreless for three consecutive periods and scoring 9 points themselves in the final quarter. The 'Berg forward wall held the hard-charging, well-drilled plucky Purple and Gold aggregation up to the last 10 minutes of play, when it went to pieces, allowing the visitors to filter through and twice block punts which they recovered and transformed into touchdowns. Close to 8,000 spectators, the largest crowd ever witnessing a Muhlenberg grid game, completely filled the stands to see this initial battle of the season played Friday night, September 28. Score: West Chester 9, Muhlenberg 0.

Muhlenberg vs. Lafayette

For the last several years Muhlenberg's grid teams had come through with a victory in their opening tilt only to travel to Easton the following week and "take it on the chin" from Lafayette. Things started altogether differently last fall, so students and players alike looked for a reversal of form when they entered the Easton battle. But again Coach McCracken's boys came through and registered a threetouchdown win over the Cardinal and Gray, the same margin of victory of the game in 1933. Hopes for a victory over the Easton eleven were running high, especially since half of the Lafayette team had been graduated in the spring of 1934, but McCracken's new men came through in fine fashion and kept Johnny Utz's squad from annexing its season's first triumph. During the second period 'Berg's pass defense went hay-wire, and Lafayette scored all three touchdowns in this quarter. Coach Utz made a number of replacements at the start of the second half and the revamped line-up managed to hold the Leopards scoreless. Score: Lafayette 19, Muhlenberg 0.

Muhlenberg vs. Lebanon Valley

Lebanon Valley's "Flying Dutchmen" came to Allentown on Saturday afternoon, October 13, hopeful of repeating the victory gained over the Cardinal and Gray eleven in 1932, but catching Johnny Utz's cohorts on the rebound from two consecutive defeats, they went home with a 25 to 7 trouncing. 'Berg's lineup was altered considerably for this game in an effort to chalk up the season's initial victory. Willie Bloom was moved from his regular position at tackle to the backfield and soon made his presence felt by ripping and smashing huge holes in the visitors line in addition to going over for one of the four touchdowns scored by 'Berg. Lloyd Zimmerman, husky sophomore, took Bloom's tackle position in the line and gave an excellent account of himself in his first full intercollegiate game. Score: Muhlenberg 25, Lebanon Valley 7.

Muhlenberg vs. Albright

Muhlenberg and Albright, meeting on 'Berg's field for the second night game of the season, resumed grid relations after a lapse of many years. In the early part of the tussle it looked like another night loss would be suffered, but before long the picture changed and 'Berg had gained the upper hand. Although scoring but one touchdown, that of Ed "Scrapper" Farrell, on a well-executed off-tackle play when he galloped 38 yards down the field, the Utzmen had a decided edge over the Lions throughout the rest of the fray. It was not until the last few minutes of play that "Pop" Kelchner's eleven, making a frantic and almost successful attempt to tie the score, completed three consecutive first downs, only to lose the ball on a fumble by Gabriel which was recovered by Keebler. Score: Muhlenberg 7, Albright 0.

Muhlenberg vs. Gettysburg

The Cardinal and Gray warriors seem to have had an aversion to rainy days, for as was the case when we lost to Lafayette on a rain-soaked gridiron, so was it proven when Gettysburg came to Muhlenberg's field on Saturday afternoon, October 27, and completely ruined the stage set for a large Homecoming and Alumni crowd. The Bullets' predominance over 'Berg in athletic events continued as one elusive, shifty back, Joe Superka, twice made long runs to eke out a two-touchdown win. Late in the third period the Muhls threatened to score, but with G-burg forced to kick from behind its own goal, the visitor's quarterback wisely decided on a safety and brought his team out of danger although it gave us two points. Score: Gettysburg 12, Muhlenberg 2.

Muhlenberg vs. Franklin and Marshall

The following week, October 3, saw a complete breakdown of Muhlenberg's morale and fighting spirit which had been fast waning up to this point. Having suffered only one former defeat at the hands of Ursinus, the heavy, fast-charging F. and M. eleven was still on the rebound after the Ursinus defeat and for the last three periods of the game ran roughshod over 'Berg in its futile effort to stem the tide. This was the first time in 32 years that the Lancaster collegians had won such a one-sided victory over the Cardinal and Gray. Score: Franklin and Marshall 48, Muhlenberg 6.

Muhlenberg vs. Ursinus

In an effort to inject a new and more invigorating spirit into the team, Coach Utz, the following week, started an almost entirely new eleven against Ursinus which came to Allentown with the record of having beaten both the University of Pennsylvania and the strong Franklin and Marshall grid teams. Five sophomores were used in the revamped line-up. Both teams put up a great battle resulting in a scoreless tie at the half. On a beautifully executed play in the last quarter, the Muhls scored a touchdown on a lateral pass with Farrell going over for the score. With but four minutes left to play, the Cardinal and Gray players, who had but one substitution all day, tired rapidly, and the Bears also managed to make a score through the clever passing heaving of Charley Calvert. The conversion was good and soon after the game ended. Score: Muhlenberg 7, Ursinus 7.

Muhlenberg vs. Lehigh

The annual grid clash with Lehigh University attracted the interest of the Lehigh Valley on the afternoon of November

17. Both teams had spotty records for the greater part of the season, but a victory for either school in this classic would have saved the season. As the weather was clear and crisp, several thousand spectators were on hand for the fray. 'Berg, however, could not maintain the pace set the previous week and again fell by the wayside. Johnny Utz's changing line-up managed to hold its own for three periods against constant threats by Lehigh, but in the fourth quarter, the Engineers pushed over two touch downs and put the game on ice. Willie Bloom was inserted into the fray and appeared to be going places, until he was no longer called upon to carry the ball, and 'Berg's chances for even putting across one score faded with the sunset over Taylor Stadium. Score: Lehigh 13, Muhlenberg 0.

Muhlenberg vs. Dickinson

The closing battle of the season with Dickinson College at Biddle Field, Carlisle, resolved itself into a battle for last place in the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Conference. Neither team had won a Conference tilt up to this time, although both elevens had managed to tie Ursinus earlier in the season. In the opening period Chris Riley was called upon to boot a field goal from placement and came through for 'Berg's only 3-pointer of the year. Dickinson immediately started a drive in the second quarter and finally put over a score and made good a conversion. In the second half the Muhls again bogged and yielded a safety to the Red Devils which finished the scoring for the day. The outstanding feature of the game was the completion of a sixty-yard pass from Willie Bloom to Russ Keebler just before the gun was shot ending the fray. Score: Dickinson 9, Muhlenberg 3.

Freshman Football

As somewhat of a consolation for a dismal varsity season, the Cardinal and Gray freshman football team put on two stellar performances both against the Lehigh and Lafayette frosh elevens and chalked up one-touchdown victories over these ancient rivals. This was the first time since the fall of 1931 that a double triumph had been gained by 'Berg's freshmen over these Lehigh Valley opponents.

Owen "Jeff" James, former Bucknell football and basket-ball star, was engaged by the Athletic Committee to drill the husky bunch of first-year men who had reported for the squad. Within a few weeks after the opening of school, Coach James had made rapid progress with his boys, aided by Si Padolin, '35, who had been eliminated from varsity competition because of a knee injury.

In their opening tilt on Muhlenberg's field with Lehigh's frosh, the Cardinal and Gray yearlings fought stubbornly for four full periods, and finally Bill Hunsicker plunged over for the only score of the game. Muhlenberg 6, Lehigh 0. On November 10 the little Muhls stacked up against the frosh eleven from Lafayette College and kept their record unmarred by scoring a 7 to 0 victory over the Easton lads. In the second period Bob Baker, diminutive halfback, was downed on the one-foot line after having received a long pass from Henry Gutekunst, flashy back from Perkasie High School. Within two plays, Baker, on a reverse play, spun across for the winning score, with Bill Hunsicker converting for the extra point.

A number of the members of the freshman squad showed plenty of promise of becoming likely candidates for varsity positions next year. Outstanding backfield performers were Bill Hunsicker and Henry Gutekunst, both from Sellersville-Perkasie High School, who are expected to "go places" on the gridiron for 'Berg in the next three years. Also performing in brilliant style in the backfield were "Swede" Swenson, of Coaldale; Bob Baker, of Stroudsburg; and Valentine Burkhauser, from Trenton, N. J.; men who looked promising for their work on the line were Tommy Thomas, of Nanticoke; Ralph Eagle, Royersford; "Reds" Ellis, Allentown; Ken Poust, Alburtis; Jack Blair, Woodridge, N. J.; Johnny Young, of Allentown; Charlie Reppert, of Hamburg; and Tom Natolie, of Norwich, N. Y.

Freshmen who had played in the Lehigh and Lafayette games and had worked faithfully during the season, received sweat coats with class numerals on the chest. These were presented to them at the annual grid banquet in December. Members of the freshman squad receiving this award were: Robert C. Baker, John H. Blair, Valentine J. Burkhauser, Eugene H. Cochrane, Jr., Henry F. Gutekunst, John F. Hayes, William H. Hunsicker, Edmund S. Keiter, Ralph C. Eagle, Russel S. Malanick, Thomas J. Natoli, Kenneth D. Poust, Charles I. Reppert, Victor Stanick, Henry R. Sotter, John O. Swenson, Thomas J. Thomas, John C. Young.

Basketball

Resume of the 1935 Basketball Season

HEN Coach Johnny Utz's five senior basketball stars won a 48 to 38 victory over Lehigh University last March 6, they brought to a close one of the most successful cage seasons at Muhlenberg College in the past ten years. The triumph over the Bethlehem collegians marked the fourteenth victory of the season for the Cardinal and Gray courtmen with only five losses being charged against them.

Twelve games of the nineteen scheduled were with opponents in the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League including Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, Drexel, Lebanon Valley, Albright, and Ursinus. The Muhls bettered their last year's mark, when they finished third in the League, by clinching second place this season with 9 wins and 3 defeats. No League team defeated the Utzmen more than once, with the three losses being suffered to Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, and Lebanon Valley. Lafayette and the Penn A. C. fives were the two non-league teams that managed to eke out victories over the Muhls during the year.

Four senior veterans of the previous year's cage campaign reported to Coach Utz at the start of the 1935 season. These were Lou Cuchran and Gene Lepore, both forwards of no little ability who were to carry the hopes of the Cardinal and Gray through the season. In addition to this pair, Coach Utz had Joe Rodgers and Joe Skrovanek for guards, the latter of whom was picked to fill Albert "Reds" Weiner's place of the year before. For the center position Arthur "Legs" Leibensperger, another senior who was to play his first and last year of basketball for Muhlenberg, was called into service. Leibensperger, standing fully six feet, six inches in height, had seen plenty of service on Temple University's fast team while a sophomore at that school in 1932-33. The elongated center had transferred to Muhlenberg for the 1933-34 term, but was ineligible to play varsity basketball because of the one-year ruling in effect here. "Legs", this season, more than made up for the one year he lost, for he was the masthead of Muhlenberg's great machine in addition to being high-scorer for the season with 188 points.

The outstanding achievement of the past season was an eleven-game winning streak started with a 38 to 24 win over Drexel at Philadelphia on January 9 and ended by Gettysburg on the latter's court on February 20. This tilt was the second of the campaign with the Bullets and did a great deal toward dislodging the Muhls from first place in the League.

A hard foe had been scheduled for 'Berg's opening cage tussle with the Penn Athletic Club in Philadelphia on January 5 and, although the Muhls held a one-point advantage at half time, they were unable to stop the fast Penn A. C. crew who finally won out by the score of 32 to 27. Big Jim Peterson, Barney Berlinger, Jim Bonniwell, and Connie Mack, Jr., all former University of Pennsylvania cage stars, had a good deal to do in turning back the Cardinal and Gray.

On January 9, the Utzmen chalked up their first Conference win of the season—a 38 to 24 triumph over Drexel Institute. This was the opening home game of the year for the Muhls and marked the start of a winning streak which was not ended until February 20. Lou Cuchran, with 10 points, led the Cardinal and Gray tossers in scoring.

The Muhls kicked the Leopards of Lafayette all around their own den at Memorial gymnasium in Easton, on January 12, winning by a 31 to 12 tally in a game marked by its sluggishness. Cuchran, Leibensperger, and Lepore were the shining lights for the Cardinal and Gray, leading the attacks throughout the game. Muhlenberg, by half time, had rolled up a 12 to 4 lead.

Lou Cuchran, Muhlenberg's rangy forward, and Levine, Mgr.

Gene Henry, sharp-shooting Lehigh forward, fought an individual scoring battle on the evening of January 14 in the Allentown High School Palestra as the Muhls and the Engineers tangled in the first of a two-game series. Although Henry out-scored Cuchran, 'Berg's superior team play was too much for the Brown and White, and the Utzmen were on the long end of a 44 to 27 score.

Muhlenberg won its second straight game in the Eastern Collegiate League on the evening of January 16 with Albright College at Reading, the final score being 43 to 36. Gene Lepore and Lou Cuchran, 'Berg's "sharpshooting twins" opened up with their skill in the closing minutes of the game to give the Muhls a close victory. Each had sixteen points tallied for the evening:

The largest crowd that ever attended a Muhlenberg College basketball game completely filled the Allentown High School Palestra on the evening of January 19 to see the Cardinal and Gray win their third straight Conference game from Franklin and Marshall by the score of 37 to 34. With a tenpoint lead to start the second half, the Utzmen saw the gap close up slowly as F. and M. came back with a tremendous spurt which carried them three points of a tie as the game ended. It was the best game played on the Allentown floor all season.

With its passing attack functioning smoothly, Muhlenberg jumped into the lead the first minute of play against Penn A. C. on January 26 at the Little Palestra and had things very much its own way as it reversed the opening game defeat by trouncing the visitors, 37 to 27. More than 1200 persons watched the Muhls conquer their early season vanquishers for the sixth straight victory recorded by the local collegians.

The Cardinals and Gray basketeers continued their fast pace when on February 2, they managed to gain a 36 to 34 win over Drexel Institute for the second victory of the season over that team. 'Berg's seventh straight triumph was notable for two things. The thrilling battle with the Drexel five in Curtis Hall at Philadelphia which was won only in the last twenty seconds of play when substitute Gene Grossman registered his only field goal of the game. The second event of note was the fact that the Muhls were trailing at the end of the first half for the first time in the season.

Muhlenberg continued undefeated in the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League by trouncing Lebanon Valley on February 6 by the score of 37 to 29 in a game played at the Allentown High School. Joe Rodgers, pudgy 'Berg guard, was the big gun in the offensive. His three field goals in the first half helped to place the Muhls ahead by three points as the first 20-minute period ended 13-10 in Muhlenberg's favor.

Lou Cuchran's field goal in the last seven seconds of play gave the Cardinal and Gray its ninth consecutive victory as the Muhls squeezed out a win over Gettysburg College on the evening of February 9. Cuchran's field goal came after the Bullets had scored 10 points in the last five minutes to tie the score in the most thrilling basketball play seen on the Allentown High floor in many a day. Fully 2400 spectators jammed the Little Palestra to watch the two leading undefeated teams in the Conference battle it out for first place. Leibensperger was high scorer for 'Berg with 12 points to his credit.

Trailing throughout the entire game, Johnny Utz's five came from behind in the last four minutes of play to defeat Ursinus 37 to 36 in a game played on the losers' court on February 13. "Legs" Leibensperger, lanky pivot man for the Muhls, was responsible for the win, sinking a long field goal just before the final gunshot was fired. The victory was 'Berg's tenth straight win of the season.

Displaying a powerful offense with rarely a flaw in the attack, the Muhls easily crushed Albright College, 51 to 26, in the Little Palestra on the evening of February 16 before 1200 wildly cheering fans. With "Legs" Leibensperger playing his best game of the season, the Muhls scored on set-shots, lay-ups, tapins, over-head, one-handed shots and every other conceivable method of scoring. The outcome of the game was never in doubt as the Muhlenberg juggernaut piled up point after point to roll up a 33-10 score at the end of the first half.

The eleven-game winning streak of the Muhls was shattered into little pieces at Gettysburg on February 20 as the Utzmen fell apart in the second half of their game with the Bullets and suffered their first defeat in the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League. The final score was 54 to 38 in favor of the Battlefield boys. At the end of the first half Gettysburg held a 20 to 19 lead, but with the start of the third period, the home team went on a scoring spree to roll up eight additional points two minutes after the second half started.

The Cardinal and Gray courtmen quickly recovered from their initial League defeat at Gettysburg earlier in the week and completely routed Ursinus College on February 23 by the score of 49 to 34.

Muhlenberg's hopes for a championship in the Conference were given a terrific jolt at Lancaster on February 26 when Johnny Utz's passers dropped a 39 to 33 decision to Franklin and Marshall. Led by Captain Jacobs, the winners took an early lead and were never headed. They led 'Berg, 22 to 19 at the halfway mark and continued their fast play throughout the second half.

of the season as Lafayette college helped 'Berg close the home season by winning out in the final five seconds of play by the score of 37 to 36. Throughout the game Coach Utz gambled with a sophomore team to beat the Leopards, but his tactics proved erroneous and when the five big seniors were sent into the game there was scarcely time enough for them to get back the lead. However, they were ahead by a single point with a few seconds to play, when Tommy Wild, Lafayette substitute, found a free basket and put in the winning goal.

Any chance of even tying for the Eastern League championship was eliminated on the evening of March 2, when Lebanon Valley, playing one of its best games of the season, managed to eke out a 40 to 36 win over the Muhls in a game played on the Lebanon High School floor. "The Flying Dutchmen" went into a lead shortly after the second quarter began and were never headed. At half-time they led by a 21 to 17 score. Lou Cuchran contributed 11 points in 'Berg's attempt to win its final League encounter.

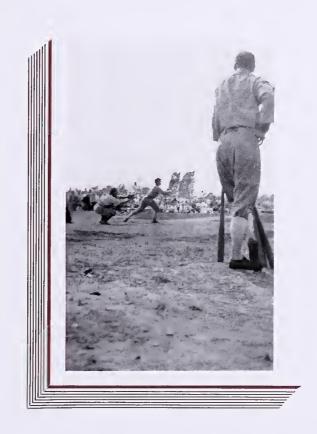

The five big seniors representing the Cardinal and Gray 1935 court edition finished their collegiate careers in a blaze of glory on March 6 at Bethlehem when they outplayed and out-fought the Lehigh basketeers to win by the score of 48 to 38. The victory marked the second win of the season over the Engineers and gave Muhlenberg the mythical Lehigh Valley collegiate title. Leibensperger went on another scoring spree to hang up 20 points for the evening. Cuchran turned half as many points from his forward position.

Baseball

Resume of the 1934 Baseball Season

IGHT victories against only two defeats was the enviable record established by Muhlenberg's Cardinal and Gray clad baseball team for the 'year 1934. "Horsey" Heist, senior member of the Muhls' pitching staff, turned in the best performance of his twirling career, winning six of the eight victories registered by the team, which was rated among the five leading college nines of the East. Both defeats suffered by Coach Utz's diamond stars were by one-run margins, and one of these was an 11 inning battle lost to the strong Penn A. C. nine by the score of 5 to 4. In the second game of the season at State College, Penn State nosed out the Cardinal and Gray sluggers by the score of 8 to 7. Willie Saalfeld, Freddie Blank, and Lou Sterner led the Muhls in club batting during the campaign. Of this trìo, Sterner was the only one lost to the team by graduation last year. Graduated along with the Muhls' regular third-baseman were Heist and Weiner, star battery for the Muhlenberg tossers; Edgar Steckel, who held down the initial sack throughout the season; and Albie Klotz, substitute outfielder.

Muhlenberg vs. Bucknell

With Johnny Utz coaching his first Muhlenberg baseball team, the Cardinal and Gray nine got off to a flying start in the 1934 season by easily winning its opening game with Bucknell at Lewisburg on April 24 by the score of 9 to 1. "Horsey" Heist hurled air-tight ball during the fray, and Bucknell's only marker came as the result of an error chalked up against the Muhls. Coach Carl Snavely's boys got but four hits off Heist while the losers contributed five errors to aid in their downfall.

Muhlenberg vs. Penn State

The season's second encounter was played the following day with Penn State and resulted in the first loss for Muhlenberg's diamond stars by the score of 8 to 7. Joe Markle did the twirling job for the Muhls and, although he allowed thirteen hits, it was the breaks of the game that enabled the State boys to nose out Coach Utz's tossers. The Muhls filled the bases in the ninth inning with none out, but Parks was sent in as a relief pitcher for State and held the 'Berg sluggers scoreless during the half inning.

With Heist hurling shutout ball, the Cardinal and Gray nine handed Coach Bill Coughlin's diamond team its first defeat of the season by a 3 to 0 score in a game played at Easton on April 28. Only four safe blows were given by Muhlenberg's ace moundsman while his mates played superb ball in the field, with but one error registered against them. Lafayette had won three straight games prior to this fray.

Muhlenberg was handed its second diamond loss of the season at the Philadelphia National League ball park on May 5 when the Penn Athletic Club rallied in the eleventh inning to push over the winning run and won by a 5 to 4 score in a close and exciting game. The Muhls tied the score at 4-all in the ninth frame, sending the game into extra innings. In the eleventh Jauss walked and came home with the winning counter when Carlsten rapped out a single. It was Heist's only loss of the season.

Muhlenberg vs. Swarthmore

Hammering four Swarthmore pitchers to all corners of the lot, the Cardinal and Gray sluggers banged out twenty hits to score twenty-two runs and smother the Garnet crew by the score of 22 to 9 in a game played May 9 on the losers' field. At the end of the third inning the Utzmen had the game clinched, but another batting spree in the eighth frame brought in eight runs and put the game on ice. "Pop" Miller started on the mound for the Muhls and was followed by Markle and Heist. All told, thirteen Muhlenberg players saw service in the tussle.

Muhlenberg vs. Temple

On May 12 the Muhlenberg nine played its first game on the home diamond and threw a snag into Coach "Pep" Young's Temple team, which up to this time, had established a formidable record for itself. "Horsey" Heist again went to the mound and held the Owls to six hits while his teammates were gathering nine to win by the score of 10 to 4. The Temple fielders were charged with no less than six errors which aided in the Muhl scoring.

Consistent hitting, backed up by fine support in the field, enabled Joe Markle to register his first win of the season in turning back the Lehigh baseball team by the score of 5 to 1 in a game played on the Muhlenberg field. Markle allowed but four safe bingles and struck out five Lehigh batsmen to keep the situation well in hand at all times. The game was played on May 16 and was the second at home for the Cardinal and Gray tossers.

Muhlenberg vs. Penn A. C.

Coach Utz's boys avenged an early season defeat at the hands of Penn A. C. by nosing out the Philadelphia Club by a 3 to 2 score at Allentown on May 26. The game was witnessed by a large Sub-freshman Day crowd and was one of the best played by the Muhls during the 1934 campaign. Heist gained a personal revenge by fanning eleven of the visiting batsmen while allowing them only five safe hits. A long home run into Liberty street by "Reds" Weiner proved to be the margin of victory.

Muhlenberg vs. Lafayette

Having suffered but one loss since the first game with the Cardinal and Gray, Lafayette came to Allentown to play the Muhls before several thousand students, alumni, and other loyal rooters on June 2, determined to avenge a 3 to 0 defeat chalked up against them earlier in the season. "Horsey" Heist was given the twirling job and dampened the hopes of Bill Coughlin's boys by succeeding to score his second straight shutout victory over the Maroon nine by the score of 2 to 0. Lafayette came nearest to scoring in the eighth inning when Wright, of the visitors, smacked the ball far over Rodgers' head in rightfield and was caught at the plate on a long relay attempting to stretch his triple into a home run. The ball was relayed from Rodgers to Steckel to Heist to Weiner who had Wright blocked off the plate.

Muhlenberg vs. Lehigh

Playing their final game of the season, the Cardinal and Gray sluggers soundly walloped the Lehigh University nine, 20 to 0, before a big Alumni Day crowd at Bethlehem on June 9. "Horsey" Heist completed his collegiate baseball career by pitching his third shutout of the season while the Utzmen pounded three Brown and White hurlers for twenty hits. The Muhls scored a trio of markers in the first inning, and went scoreless in the second frame, only to bat almost twice around in the next round to chalk up a dozen runs and put the game on ice. After the game it was announced that Heist had been signed to pitch for the St. Louis National League baseball team, he being Muhlenberg's first contribution to the big leagues.

Resume of the 1934 Tennis Season

LONG with the other sports, tennis was given a "new deal" and assumed a major position on Muhlenberg's athletic program in 1934. Dr. John V. Shankweiler assumed the coaching position, marking the first time a faculty mentor has taken charge of this sport at the college. Though 'Berg's racqueteers only split even in their schedule, they gained prestige for themselves and outscored their opponents, 43 to 40. The loss of Captain Cooper, Franklin Fine, and "Herbie" Hilton who were mainstays the previous year, was keenly felt, but a new and aggressive team was soon built around Captain Miller, Fischer, Koch, Seegers, and Herzenberg who had returned in the fall of 1933. New men to perform on the courts were Hollenbach, Coleman, Young, Kline, and Shack.

Muhlenberg's netmen opened their 1934 season at Swarthmore on Saturday, April 14, and were handed an 8-1 setback at the hands of the Garnet racqueteers. "Al" Herzenberg's victory in the singles was the only one registered by the 'Berg players during the afternoon.

Captain Miller and Herzenberg teamed up in the doubles to win Muhlenberg's only match from Lehigh in their engagement with that school on April 21. The Bethlehemites dealt out an 8-1 defeat to 'Berg, the same score by which the Muhls lost their first encounter. The Cardinals and Gray racquet-wielders gave a better account of themselves the following week when they held Coach Parson's strong Albright netmen to a 6-3 score in a match played April 28 on the Reading courts. Herzenberg and Fischer won in singles while Koch and Kline were victorious in doubles.

Two days later saw the Muhl tennis artists playing their first game at home on the Oakmont courts and registering a 9-0 shutout over Moravian for the initial win of the season. The Bethlehem collegians were completely outclassed, winning but two sets during the fray.

For the second time during the season, Muhlenberg put up a stiff fight against Albright's veteran team but lost out in the final match by the score of 5-4. The match was played on the Oakmont courts on May 8 and was the best seen there during the season.

In a match cut short by a rainstorm on May 10, the Cardinal and Gray netmen took Gettysburg's racquet team into camp by a 5-2 score. The match, played on the Battlefield courts, marked the second win of the season for Coach Shankweiler's team.

Muhlenberg received on May 12 what turned out to be their final defeat of the season when Lafayette, entertained the Cardinal and Gray netmen, gained a 6-3 victory over the latter team. Winners in the singles for Muhlenberg were Miller, Herzenberg, and Koch.

Coach Shankweiler's boys inaugurated a three-game winning streak on May 18 when they copped a 7-2 match from Franklin and Marshall on the Oakmont courts. The winners took five of the six singles and two of the three doubles matches. It was Muhlenberg's third win of the season.

The Cardinal and Gray netmen chalked up their second consecutive victory over Moravian College at Bethlehem on May 22 by the score of 5-1. A heavy thunderstorm prevented the playing of the three doubles matches.

The tennis season for Muhlenberg was brought to a fitting close on May 24 when its racqueteers subdued Ursinus by a 5-2 score. This match, played on the Collegeville courts, marked the fifth win of the year for the Cardinal and Gray netmen and thus allowed them to split even with five victories against the same number of defeats.

Resume of the 1934 Track Season

UHLENBERG'S 1934 track and field representatives met with only mediocre success despite the fact that more material and finances were available than in the previous year. The Cardinal and Gray trackmen were entered in but three meets during the season and placed last in two of them. At the Penn Relays in Philadelphia in April, Coach "Scotty" Renwick's team finished fourth in the third race of the college mile relay which was won by Dickinson followed by Juniata and Drexel. Muhlenberg's quartet was composed of Les Fetter, Ed Latta, Lou Marquet, and Walt Harland.

The other meet in which Muhlenberg placed was the Central Pennsylvania collegiate track and field meet held May 19 on Memorial Field in Gettysburg. The Cardinals and Gray winners were: Lou Marquet, who finished second in the 220 low hurdles; Al Ursin, who placed third in the javelin throw; and Fritz Wavrek, who won third place in the discus throw and fourth in the shot put. The meet was won by Franklin and Marshall with a total of $58\,1/3$ points. Bucknell finished in second place with 44 points; Dickinson, third with $42\,1/2$ points; Gettysburg, fourth with $21\,1/3$ points; Muhlenberg, fifth with 8 points. For the two previous years F. and M. had shared first honors in this meet with Dickinson.

The third performance of Coach Renwick's trackmen was at the twenty-second annual Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Association meet held on May 11 and 12 on Fisher Field at Lafayette. The Cardinal and Gray entrants failed to qualify in a single event on the first day and were thus eliminated from the meet. Rutgers again copped the title, repeating the performance of the previous year at F. and M., and nosing out Alfred, 47 to 44. In order behind Alfred were Lehigh with 36 points; Lafayette 21, Delaware 14 1/2, Swarthmore 13 1/2, Dickinson 13, Johns Hopkins 12, F. and M. 5 1/2, Haverford 2, Drexel 1, and St. Joseph's 1/2.

Organizations

The Student Council

• Here we have the governing body of the students, elected by the students, composed of one representative from each social fraternity, and one representative from each forty non-fraternity students, elected by the student body. This body is the executive of the Student Body Constitution, receives and considers student petitions, makes and enforces freshman regulations, welcomes the incoming students, and acquaints them with the traditions of Muhlenberg just as it also sponsors the annual Spring Student Body Dance in an effort to contribute toward the social sphere of the campus community.

Muhlenberg Christian Association

• The M.C.A., founded to promote the religious, educational, and social life of the student body, is an organization active in the most diverse and useful fields of college life.

Primarily interested in the religious sphere, the M.C.A. cabinet innovated the Friday Chapel services, sponsored a Bible seminar discussion group, instituted the M.C.A. deputation groups of college men to various local churches, supplied the religious pamphlets for the Chapel racks, and supervised the ushering for the community Vesper Services.

As an influence in the educational and cultural life of the students, the M. C. A. published the "Student's Handbook," conducted industrial tours to important centers in Lehigh county, sponsored both a Student Forum and a number of outstanding assembly speakers, and cooperated with Dr. John V. Shankweiler in lectures on "The Biology of Sex."

Much was done to foster the fraternal and social spirit on the campus, not only in the "pep" smokers before the Lehigh and Lafayette football games, but also in the free student dances in the Library Building, and in the informal "Fireside Hours" of professors and students in the various fraternities.

• Probably the most active on the campus, this organization, Muhlenberg's German Club, was founded and has since been successfully supervised by the amiable German professors, Dr. Preston A. The Pre-Medical Society

• Organized in 1931, and steadily advancing in prominence, this society now manages to fill the term with interesting activities for the members, including the securing of prominent medical men as speakers, illustrated lecture programs, and trips to various medical schools and hospitals. An important function of the club is to keep members advised as to medical school costs, entrance examinations, requirements, and other information helpful to the prospective student of medicine.

The membership is limited to those attaining a grade of C or better in the Freshman Chemistry course and designating their intention of following in the medical profession.

Each year the society sponsors a mock trial, writ-

Debate Team

• The varsity debate squad of this season was composed entirely of seniors and sophomores, with a predominance of men from the latter group. Professor Ephraim B. Everitt, varsity coach, used several freshmen in varsity competition last year, and thus laid the foundation for strong forensic teams in the future, James Coyne and Alvin Butz being two of the outstanding sophomore debaters. The idea was furthered in that this year John C. Gostonyi was appointed as Freshman manager, marking the first year that the Freshmen have had a mentor of their own.

The questions for argument used this season were as follows: "Resolved, that the nations should agree to prevent international shipment of arms and munitions"; "Resolved, that Pennsylvania should adopt a system of socialized medicine."

Sixteen varsity debates and several Freshman engagements, with the varsity group meeting team from Susquehanna, Albright, Dickinson, Lehigh, Ursinus, Franklin and Marshall, and Gettysburg. A trip to the New England states may prove an addition to the schedule already planned.

Oratory

UHLENBERG College has once more continued its distinguished success in the field of oratory, gaining second place in the state oratorical contest, which saw Ray R. Brennen, class of '35 deliver as his contribution, "Gilt Edged Patriotism", an attack upon the malicious practices of munition manufacturers. With this went the privilege of attendance at the all-eastern oratory contest, scheduled to be held at Northwestern University.

Dr. Brown has proven to be an extremely capable coach for many years, and in twenty-eight contests the Muhlenberg representatives have placed first thirteen times, and second seven times, an enviable record.

The Muhlenberg alternate was Robert D. Kerstetter, who represented the college at the business meeting of the State Oratorical Union.

It is but unfortunate that in recent years the lack of sufficient financial status has been preventive of a large number of colleges and universities participating in this program. The 1936 contest, to be held at Gettysburg under the new union president, Dr. Cline of that college, presumes to renew interest in an extremely worth-while cause.

The Muhlenberg Weekly

• Readers of THE MUHLENBERG WEEKLY during the academic year 1934-35 graciously accepted the marked changes in the make-up and content. These alterations resulted from the initiative and business ability of the Editor-in-Chief, with the hearty cooperation of certain staff members. The most radical change in the appearance of the paper was its enlargement, from six to eight columns in width, and the addition of 3 1/2 inches in its length. A greater amount of news than in previous years amply filled the extra space alloted to the four-page publication. The width of the individual columns, however, was reduced from 13 ems to the standard width of 12 ems, giving the paper a neater and more concise appearance.

The editorial staff complied with its new slogan, "Complete Campus Coverage." The paper presented a carefully detailed chronicle of college and alumnus activities set forth in real journalistic style. In addition, through its editorial columns, under the personal direction of the Editor-in-Chief, THE MUHLENBERG WEEKLY developed into a clear and outspoken vehicle for expressing the opinions of the students.

Of special note was the greater amount of space alloted to the alumnus over that of other years due to which it is hoped an increased circulation will result among graduates. Some of the columns of interest were: "Campus Calendar" and "Chapel Services," both of which appeared on the front page of each issue; "Chook," a feature story from the pen of Si Padolin; "Seeds for Thought," a religious column, written by John R. Brokhoff; "Reflection," a column of poetical selections by William J. Leifeld; "The Opera House," a weekly review of current movies, by Sidney R. Weiner and Joseph Markle. Numerous cuts of students and campus speakers were in evidence in each number of the paper.

A new staff organization was put into effect at the beginning of the academic year. Instead of three Senior Associate Editors and one Senior Business Associate, a Managing Editor was selected to assist the Editor-in-Chief in make-up and headline writing. The other former offices were abolished in a move for efficiency.

The Ciarla

• The staff, in publishing the 1936 "Ciarla" has chosen to maintain a more or less dignified simplicity as far as is possible and to employ the straight line as a means of artistry.

As has often, and truthfully, been said, the principal function of any school annual is to portray as accurately as possible what the people in that school did during that school year. If that end has been realized the staff will be quite gratified.

In the carrying out of such a project there is naturally need for assistance professionally, and the Ciarla takes this opportunity of thanking those who have cooperated in its production, both within the college, and without, the latter group consisting of Mr. Merin, who personally handled all photography for Merin and Baliban studios; Mr. Arthur Sharp, representing the Pontiac Electrotype and Engraving Company; and Mr. Charles Esser, of the Kutztown Publishing Company, who handled the printing and binding.

Muhlenberg College Band

• The New Deal has hit the band, not only in the matter of uniforms, but also in supervision, direction, marching, and, of some importance, in music. The deck was fixed before the shuffle, however, through the signing by Muhlenberg College of Professor Henry A. Soltys as bandmaster. It was not long after the enlistment of this serious-minded instructor that things began to happen, and a completely altered band appeared on the campus.

With the drawing up of a new constitution and the adoption of the same, the band was placed upon a military basis. Military uniforms were purchased, and the members were given ranking in order, such as drum major, lieutenant, sergeant, corporal, or private. Prior to each public appearance, the band underwent a military inspection before faculty members and military officials. Hence, the uniforms, instruments, and general appearance had to be up to military standard at all times.

Professor Soltys is determined that the band shall present at least two worthwhile public annual concerts in the assembly hall; concerts which shall invite comments of approval.

Strict rules include required appearance at all home athletic events, and excuses for absences at rehearsals are limited.

An innovation which has had wholehearted approval is the formation of school letters of both the visiting and visited teams at all football games. In all, the Muhlenberg student body and faculty are pleased with the reorganization, and presumably will have reason to be so, since Professor Soltys insists that he has as yet accomplished nothing, in comparison with what may come.

The Chapel Choir

The music of the choral group has a distinct field of its own as compared with instrumental music. In instruments, whether it be violin, piano, or even the symphony orchestra, it is the feeling of the individual that finds expression; it is the musician's soul that is speaking. In an a cappella choral group it is different; here the soul of a nation, of a people, bursts forth. In the song of a Russian choir it is as though a whole race were singing, millions singing of their longings and sufferings of a thousand years. In this country the Germans, Welsh, Serb'ans, Russians, and those of other nationalities have brought their songs and choral groups with them. We must continue these traditions and blend them with what is indigenous to the American soil. Thus will we develop choral singing which will be something distinct, something that will express the soul of the American people.

With such thoughts in mind, the Muhlenberg

Chapel Choir is endeavoring to render what is best of that vast store of Christian music; to develop among the singers and among the audiences an appreciation of what is noble and fine in church music, and to stimulate, if possible, its members to original creative activity of their own.

Since its inception, the Chapel Choir has been under the direction of Dr. Harold Marks. The Choir sings for the Vesper Service in the Chapel every Sunday afternoon. With their colorful vestments they have become an integral part of the chapel services. The Choir also sings weekly for the students.

In addition to these campus activities this group has found a larger field for service singing on Sunday evenings at various churches. On these extensive tours the choir has been received with all due enthusiasm, and the concerts, with their banner attendances, have earned a reputation of which Muhlenberg may well be proud.

A Word of Appreciation

• Thus we have presented the major organizations of the Muhlenberg campus, all of which make definite contributions in their own field and serve to further the interests of the college in general. Of necessity their membership is limited, but they have shown throughout a spirit both democratic and altruistic, serving well.

Their mission is of prime importance, they supplement the academic work, and give men a chance to broaden themselves through contacts and work in their particular fields. Moreover, they have been representative of Muhlenberg, and as Muhlenberg's representatives it has been their duty at all times to appear their very best.

The members have thus contributed nobly, and in addition the faculty sponsors have worked long and hard in attempting to gain a measure of progress, often without the entire appreciation due them, not so much referring to the members of the specific organizations as to the student body as a whole.

Therein men are given the opportunity to show what they can do, as well as what they know, and in so doing to build themselves and what they represent. In all, organization members gain through experience, the application of an altruistic spirit, and simultaneously may derive a great deal of pleasure therefrom.

May our extra-curricular activities long endure and prosper.

• The local chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, the national honorary forensic fraternity, was organized in 1926 in recognition of Muhlenberg's singular success in forensic endeavor, debating, and oratory.

Due to the high standard that must be attained in public speaking to be eligible for membership, the membership has thus far been limited to few students.

Kappa Phi Kappa

• Kappa Phi Kappa, the national professional educational fraternity, is in its seventh year of activity on the Muhlenberg campus, promoting research and scholarship in the field of education.

Included among its achievements of the present year is the bringing to the campus of a member of the first Byrd Antarctic expedition, Lt. Harry Adams, U. S. N., retired, a speaker of note; and the laying of definite plans for an inclusive survey to ascertain as closely as possible just what sort of training is required of college students in order to be adequately equipped for the services they will be expected to render in case of employment by any of the many business and manufacturing organizations in the Lehigh Valley and surrounding districts.

Phi Alpha Theta

• The Kappa Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, is a successor of the Muhlenberg History Club, and was established on the campus in 1929. The purpose of this organization is to recognize superior work in the study of history and to elaborate upon the discussion of the classroom.

At the monthly meetings of Kappa Chapter in the homes of the history professors, the members take an active part in discussions relating to modern national and international problems.

An undergraduate, to be eligible for membership, must have at least a junior class rating, must have a vital interest in history, must have completed at least sixteen semester hours of history, must average a high "B" in all history courses completed, and must have a general average of at least a "B" in at least two-thirds of the remainder of his work.

Omicron Delta Kappa

• Omicron Delta Kappa, one of the foremost national honorary fraternities in the country, has gained an acknowledged prestige of its own on the campus of Muhlenberg since its organization here in 1930. Behind the organization of Omicron Delta Kappa is a three-fold purpose. The first is to recognize a high standard of accomplishment in collegiate activities; the second, to bring about a consolidation of the most representative men in the various lines of college activity; and the third, to help bring the faculty and the student body to a closer understanding.

Phi Sigma Iota

• The Lambda Chapter of Phi Sigma lota, a national honor society, has been active on the campus since December 5, 1928. The purposes of the organization are the recognition of outstanding ability and attainments in the Romance Languages and Literatures, research in this field, and the promotion of a sentiment of amity between our nation and foreign countries.

Once a year, each member of the chapter is required to read and defend an original paper at a regular club meeting.

Phi Sigma lota was founded at Allegheny College in 1922, and has since had twenty chapters organized from Maine south to Alabama and west to South Dakota.

Dr. Corbiere, the faculty sponsor and advisor, is at present serving his third term of two years as National Historian and Editor of the journal of the society.

• Alpha Kappa Alpha, national honorary Philosophy fraternity, was formed May 1, 1930, on the campus of Muhlenberg College. Under the inspiration and leadership of Rev. Russel Stine the Philosophy Club of Muhlenberg and Moravian Colleges combined to form this national fraternity.

The chapter meets bi-monthly, usually at the home of Rev. Stine. Topics that have a philosophic interest are discussed. This year the members traced the theory of truth from the Ancient through the Medieval and into the Modern Philosophers.

Students of Philosophy who have a high scholastic record in all subjects are eligible for membership.

The organization has generally been limited to a small membership due to high qualifications necessary for membership. To be eligible, a student must have had a minimum of five years of Latin and Greek, with at least two years of each, and must have attained a high scholastic standing in all subjects.

The Council is recognized as quite beneficial in the supervision of "rushing", and in its attempts at stimulating scholarship activity by its presentation of a cup to the fraternity which achieves the highest scholastic standing for each year. Its social activities include the annual Inter-Fraternity Ball, or Pan-Hellenic Dance.

Chapter Five

The campus, a genuine fountain of fellowship and association, carrying memories most destined to be regarded with fond whimsy in the years to come.

The College Year

Spring 1934

HEORETICALLY, in the Spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love, tennis, and graduation, not to mention such mundane activities as the running off of gym cuts for the inimitable Bill and the completion of practice teaching.

This, of course, is a means of introducing a few remembrances of a season past, all of whose activities would fill an encyclopaedia.

Early in April, of a Friday night, we saw "The Merry Wives of Windsor," with Dr. Reichard playing the role of the tipsy and frolicsome Falstaff in fine style, even down to his climbing into a wash hamper, indeed a difficult feat considering the veritable mountain of pads he was forced to carry. The others, too, performed as Shakespeare would have had it, we hope, other than that our cast really included girls, neighbors of ours from "across the hill."

That same night was the Dyad, a dance now extinct, which sang its swan song in gala fashion, Oliver Naylor and his boys whooping it up, with the college men trying to keep pace. The only possibility of complaint was from the dormitory stayat-homes, who hated to be wakened at four in the morning, which is of no consequence, since they should have been there anyway.

Then, too, there was the visit of the Oxford group, under the guidance of alumnus Frank N. D. Buchman, whose men functioned toward conversions, and were moderately successful, since, I am told, there was a stronger tendency toward the payment of fraternity dues and the return of borrowed neckties.

The Mules of the diamond got under way to a flying start, a preview of what was to prove to be the most successful of baseball seasons, one which terminated in the Middle Atlantic Championship, by defeating the Bisons from Lewisburg, 9-1, and dropping a close one to Penn State, 8-7 the following day.

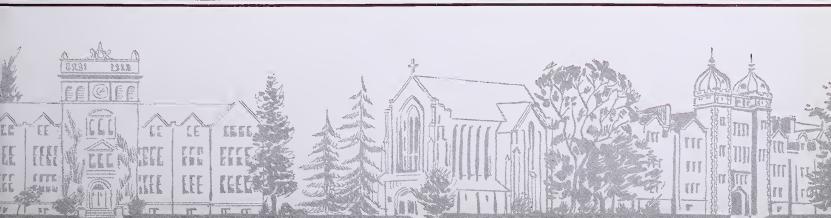

The mock trial, which promises to be a tradition of the John Marshall club was staged with results, the case being that of the state against Roy Siegel for having inveigled the plaintiff, Charlie Mauch into the buying of tobacco, said plaintiff being under age. Siegel was found guilty, and apparently started Charlie in a bad habit, for we still see him with a "weed" of one sort or another from time to time. The same week the varsity nine, with the star pitcher "Horse" Heist at the helm, dropped their second game of the season in an eleven inning tussle to Penn A. C., the last game, incidentally, which they were wont to lose.

Student Body Elections, always dramatic affairs, were even more so at this time, the election being contested to no small degree until declared legal. In spite of a walk-out the results stood with Zamites, Hemstreet, Ziegler and Nagle gaining the four principal offices, Brokhoff as president of M.C.A., and Krapf and Kanjuck as editor and business manager of the "Weekly" respectively.

The Ausflug terminated the year's activities for the Deutsche Verein, and 'tis said the "gemutlich-keit" flowed freely with the indomitable Tommy Berg leading the singing, and Charlie Klein being elected president of said organization for the first semester of the current year. Once more the Mules came through to beat Swarthmore and Temple, the former by the overwhelming score of 22-9, the latter 10-4 breaking a long string of Temple victories and sending them to the toboggan.

A new institution on the Muhlenberg campus was inaugurated May 26 in the form of a subfreshman day, the recent graduates of high schools from all over Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey being invited, as a means of advertising Muhlenberg. A gala day in the sunshine was had by all, including a dramatic skit, a tour of the campus and fraternity houses, luncheon, and a band concert. The events of the afternoon were the Dickinson-Muhlenberg Tennis matches and the Muhlenberg-Penn A. C. baseball game, which once again put 'Berg on the win column, before which however, for the greater part of the morning the visitors were treated to exhibits by the various departments of the college.

Intramurals closed with a bang, Theta Kappa Nu emerging with the cup by a one point margin by virtue of Philos' defeat of Phi Kappa Tau in the final baseball game of the season, the latter house having forged far ahead as a result of the track meet, Gibson and Diehl being the principal contributors to the cause, while Clayton, of T.K.N., with his victory in the 2 mile run was an advertisement both for Bill Ritter, for whom he ran off cuts at the rate of some twenty miles a day, and for Camel cigarettes.

Before the year had closed, it became known that Lawrence Reimert, member of the faculty in the departments of Physics and Mathematics had received a graduate fellowship at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, creating a vacancy to be filled in the Fall. Also the various campus organizations, in addition to those already mentioned underwent their various changes in the way of officiaries and in regard to plans for the coming year.

In other fields there exist marked stimulations from a point of activity, the press bureau, under the direction of Maggie Levine evidencing proof of increased publicity for Muhlenberg in various cities, and a change in the college academic function with the approval by the board of Trustees of the institution of a pre-engineering course, whose principal supplement was accounted for by a course in mechanical drawing, with the Autumn to see the approval and institution of a course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in education, marked progressions of a very definite sort.

As a fitting conclusion to a very successful dramatic year, with due credit to Mr. Coder, "Wappin Wharf," a pirate drama, was produced and staged during pre-commencement week, replacing "The Spider" which was too ambitious a program for our limited stage facilities, and which the administration objected to being given at the Nineteenth St. theatre.

As if a fitting conclusion, the baseball season continued with victory on victory, Lehigh falling twice, and Lafayette twice being shut out, so that the final tally showed some eight victories against two defeats, six of the victories going to the Heist-Weiner battery. At the same time, Dr. Shankweiler's racqueteers pulled out on the black, despite the loss of some real stars of the year previous.

The final week of school is always a gala affair. The campus runs rife with seniors who have taken their exams and flaunt their idleness before such of us as are unfortunate enough to necessitate our continued struggle through the warm weeks of early June. These same seniors the following year return to envy the undergrads, as it were.

The student body dance was rattled off at Dorney park, with the Schadt brothers orchestra and the usual stags who choose to call themselves the reception committee, and the presence of such as those who deign to bathe in the lake or in the fountain, whilst others spend countless dimes riding the roller coaster and snapping the whip.

Alumni days always see the recall of many old grads, who carry canes with their class numerals, who break toy balloons, and who, in an effort toward rejuvenation display red and yellow paper hats with a great deal of gusto. The parade saw all these, as well as the band, and the representative organizations, lacking only the fire department for a perfect home town Fourth of July. Then, too, class day is the one time where the presentation of gifts enables everyone to dig at everyone else, the faculty getting more than their share, with no room or desire for retribution.

The baccalaureate sermon, delivered by Dr. Haas, and then commencement, with Dr. James L. Mc-Conaughy of Wesleyan giving the address while Bennetch and Hollenback delivered the salutatory and valedictory respectively.

Thus ended the Spring of 1934, with the departure of another class and the homeward trek for what, to some, at least, appeared to be an endless summer, autumn and college once more offering pleasantness and comparative rest.

CIARLA

FTER four days of gadding about, taking examinations to indicate the extent to which their brain was warped, and meeting new people, the Freshman were treated to the formal opening of college, featuring an address by Rev. Russell W. Stine, "Summa Philosophiae." Thus, with worlds of sound advice and full stomachs they looked forward to their first week of regular college attendance, and viewed the problem of regulations not nearly so askance as had been the desire of those imposing the regulations.

Many things which were new for them were likewise not anticipated by the old group of students, for instance the appearance of the band in a more orderly fashion, something which has since proven, through the aid of Prof. Soltys and the support of the athletic council, to be an efficient organization, both musically and from a disciplinary point of view.

Too, a new faculty face appeared in the person of Homer C. Knauss, M.S., Muhlenberg, 32, and successor of Lawrence Reimert in the departments of Physics and Mathematics.

The "Weekly" took a turn in its history, both in the size of the paper and in the addition of a rotogravure section, the Collegiate Digest, which though not appearing with the first issue or two, made an impression by its choice of an All-American Football Team. Only one suggestion has been made for its improvement, namely, that most of the stuff be cut out and the first three pages filled with pictures of the May Queens from various institutions.

Backed by the Spring publicity of "Maggie" Levine, in which he had exchanged some correspondence with the sports editor of the Easton paper, the football team stepped out to its first battle with visions of a highly successful season, especially since they had given the University of Pennsylvania considerable difficulty in a pre-season battle, a secret battle, since only half the student body gained admission, and the other half didn't care to come. To go on with the story, Glenn Killinger's proteges from West Chester proceded to give an exhibition of kicking and taking advantage of the breaks which resulted in a 9-0 West Chester victory.

This, fortunately, was not deterrent to the pre-Lafayette game pep, and the M.C.A. rally stirred up plenty of fight as well as a general presentiment of success. The frosh gained their first concrete idea of a pajama parade, but failed to make as big a success of the thing as they might have had they "crashed" a show, one feat which promises to become traditional.

The presidents of the freshman and sophomore classes had suggested the re-establishment of the contests, as a means of livening up the fall months, which idea was carried out in more ways than one. The months were not only livened up, but it became a matter of the survival of the fittest when a member of either class crossed the campus unescorted by thirty or forty other men. Football men in football suits, the loafers in their street clothes, all engaged in spirited brawls right and left, displaying the die for dear old alma mater spirit in a new way, the first time in several years for Muhlenberg. The banquets were near riots, with the frosh gaining the palm, and administering considerable physical punishment as well as abject embarrassment to certain individuals who had made their presence too keenly felt.

For the third consecutive time the class of 1935 elected Rudolph Mattson to its head, and the student body replaced Hemstreet, who had left school, with Lou Marquet as vice-president of the student body. Likewise, the assembly programs proceeded with Dr. Howard's talk on dreams, and the very humorous comments of Bill Brandt, newspaperman and publicity agent for the Philadelphia National League Baseball Team.

The Mule eleven continued its season, losing to Lafayette, which game had seen such elaborate preparations, by a 19-0 score and then hitting Lebanon Valley on the rebound to win 25-6, with Catasauqua's "Scrapper" Farrell giving an exhibition of broken field running seldom seen in the past few years, and the behemoth, "Jersey" Bloom, lately promoted to the backfield, repeatedly ripping great holes in the Dutchmen's line. One week later, they beat Albright, 7-0, as Farrell dashed forty yards off tackle, which score marked their last entry into the win column for the season, Lehigh, Dickinson, Gettysburg, all handing out defeats in addition to the F. and M. nightmare, and the heartbreaking last minute tie which a strong Ursinus team created against a bunch of fighting Mule sophomores.

Fraternity rushing season is always a gala time for the frosh, and a backbreaking affair for upper classmen. Once more the classic cigars are handed about, the frosh are herded into pow-wows and baked beans sessions, as well as numerous dances, none of which outdid the other a great deal, unless it was in the size of the radio used. The culmination was pledging day, in which many fraternity men smoked more cigarettes than were taken on the Byrd Antarctic expedition while awaiting the decisions of fickle boys.

M.C.A. crashed through again before the Gettysburg game with a pre-home-coming-day dance, Art Mickley making the library ring, and the weather man crashed through to make alumni day a howling success, with water a foot deep and the remains of somewhat ridiculous wax-paper raincoats dotting the campus, which by this time had begun to appear a bit seedy anyhow.

The little Mules, under Jeff James faired better than did their older brethren, defeating Lafayette and Lehigh, both by 6-0 scores to show a season's record of 1.000, the two touchdowns being contributed by Bill Hunsicker and Bobby Baker. The boys better be good, for they've a tough year coming, as may be seen when the athletic council announces games with Fordham and Army in the two seasons to come. What's the difference, they should enjoy West Point, there's really beautiful scenery along the Hudson, and it is to be hoped that a sizable guarantee rewards their efforts.

The alumni gained the limelight as George Rupp and George Golstrum, both '23, were eletced to the State Senate and Assembly respectively. Joe Markle was named Pre-Med president, and the fight, which was to continue far into the winter gained its start featuring articles directed against William Randolph Hearst. Mr. Hearst was called public enemy number one, and he said a few things in return, but we wonder if he was terribly disturbed.

Again Dr. Shankweiler presented a series of some seven lectures on the "Biology of Sex," interesting and genuinely informative, whereas the M.C.A., ever-active, continued with tours to various industrial establishments as a supplement to sociological study, with the idea in view of educating the students in a more liberal view. In recording the news of one of such excursions, we found a little note in the "Weekly" saying, "the tour was conducted in true Neuweiler fashion," whatever that may be construed to mean.

Statistics were freely quoted, showing the student body, its percentage gain, its religious belief, its professional choice, and numerous other details which might be laid at its feet were it to condescend to accept them. Statistics are always interesting, especially in graphical form. The year-book staff is aware of this, for during their inspection of multitudinous yearbooks they came across that from Wisconsin, which has a chart of some sort or another on every division page.

Through the late fall, the Rehrig lectures, features at college every year were continued with Rev. Gustavus H. Bechthold, D.D., delivering a series of Christian evidence lectures, spicing the same with a fund of personal experience.

As if in way of a hint that college should stand for a bit of academic endeavor, the month of November was climaxed as Phi Kappa Tau was awarded the fraternity scholarship cup for the third consecutive time, thereby gaining permanent possession of the same, a swell mantlepiece trophy and emergency ashtray.

Winter 1935

HE winter started with the bad news announcement of the Mid-Year Examination schedule, and for several days groaning prevailed as regards the way in which everyone's schedule seemed to be a misfit for his personality.

Good King Athletics held sway, still however, if not in one form, in another. The annual banquet embraced the participants in every sport for the past year, the band, the cheerleaders, and sundry guests, with sweaters, awards, handshakings, and speeches, to say nothing of the barrels of giblet gravy from the Americus kitchen, and the boys selecting Johnny Yarshinski as honorary captain.

The "M" Club countered with their annual dance at the same hotel, Art Mickley opening the Muhlenberg formal season, which season had a long lapse after this, the initial dance.

Other items included the O.D.K. initiation of seven men, as well as the banquet, which Haps came awfully near missing, and the statement from the coop store which indicated their realization of a profit for the year past. Couple to this the profit on the field book and we have results almost as good as the entire football season.

Prof. Everitt had given his sophomore English class a real Elizabethan Christmas party, with a Yule log and good cheer in form both material and spiritual. Small colored glasses, good cheer receptacles, were reported missing the following day.

Dr. Reichard once more played Santa Claus at the Deutsche Verein Christmas outing, and the Cedar Crest-Muhlenberg choirs gave a joint celebration in the Chapel, an event which saw Dr. Haas wearing his frock coat, and a stag line in front of the Chapel after the singing which reached almost to the administration building.

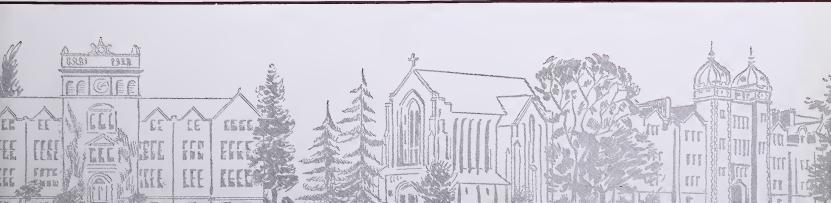

The 1935 basketball edition, after dropping the first start to Penn A. C. literally "went to town", capturing twelve in a row with the senior five becoming something of a pass word around the campus. It was the finest athletic treat in a long time, every game hard fought, and a smooth functioning 'Berg attack eliciting praise from all angles for the gang and Johnny Utz. A temporary crack-up, the loss of the conference championship in a week's time, and the team were still heroes, whereas the coach had erred badly, illustrating the way of the boys, who are satisfied with nothing but a winner.

The so-called Muhlettes, with Jeff James coaching and Tom Thomas throwing in many baskets gave promise of winning quite a few preliminary games, until semesters rolled around, and the dean had to put the boys to studying (?) instead of playing, the schedule being carried out by last year's intramural stars, who battered and barged their way about nobly, without the good fortune of winning more than a single game.

Maxie Kohn fretted and worried through countless weeks before the Junior prom, toast of the year's events, was finally settled, with Paul Tremaine supplying the music, and Bill Mealey supplying the hall, the luniors and others in attendance did a little supplying also, even in excess of the admission price, and before long the orchestra was amply supplied with volunteer leaders, the floor was covered with confetti a foot deep, and stop signs from Hamilton Street (or was it one stop sign? (The author's entitled to his little exaggeration) dotted the floor, now a riot of color, while countless (more exaggeration) people swayed to barbarous rhythm (a la "Seeds for Thought") and the orchestra lent a sprightly symphony (a la "Reflections"). The problem at the conclusion was where to get the money for the Senior Ball ticket, due two weeks thereafter, and at the ball we find a repetition of a hilarious time, with the musicians of Milt Lowy and George Doddy battling far into the night, and many heads splitting far into the next afternoon.

Wednesday morning chapel presented the contributions of Rev. William Hermann on the pitiful state of Russia, and of Lt. Harry Adams on the Byrd Antarctic expedition. The evenings marked classes for delinquent freshman and a source of income for prospective teachers among the seniors, under government hire.

The Senior Class carried out its function of electing life officers, and resulted in the victory of Rudolph Mattson as president, with Joe Markle, Ray Brennen and Charlie Klein running off with the other three officers.

Forensic activities went well with Ray Brennen capturing second place in the State Intercollegiate Oratorical Meet, and gaining the right to act as alternate in the Eastern Conference scheduled for Northwestern University.

The band presented its first assembly concert of the year in more than commendable fashion, evidencing improvement and furnishing one of the year's best bits of information, with promises of a spring concert of popular music to come, and the M. C. A. aided in the securing of a group of students from foreign countries, educated at least to some extent to speak about college, and to present themselves in various classes as well as the fraternity houses.

Among the faculty there were two events of no mean importance in that English Professor Coder, and coach Johnny Utz both made their way to the altar, the last named considerably reducing the file of Muhlenberg's eligible bachelors.

Too, the choir continued its string of activities with trips to various places, small and large, spiced with plenty of food, and the opportunity of broadcasting over WCAU in Philadelphia, carrying, along with the band an indication of Muhlenberg musical prowess.

The pre-medical society entertained its members with trips to several places including Hahnemann medical school, at which certain of the members lacked the sufficiency of intestinal fortitude, a catch phrase on the campus, to endure the so-called horrors of the operating room.

In the meantime, the debate team was carrying on with a varied schedule, including a New England trip, and met with marked success, such ventures as they lost being by the very narrowest of margins.

World peace became an item given considerable discussion (it has been referred to before) along about the end of March and just prior to the general student peace strike scheduled for April 12, the pros and cons arguing violently, and interspersing their ideas with the Long-Coughlin-Johnson triangle, as well as the price of pork, the yellow menace, and renewed attacks upon that very well known and much maligned William Randolph Hearst. Muhlenberg did not strike, continuing to embrace the symbol of the dove within itself.

With the close of the winter sport season, the "palestra" or band-box gymnasium of the prep school found Bill Ritter inaugurating the intramural games once more, in a series of rough and tumble encounters, which finally terminated with a quintuple tie, giving promise of hard fights to come.

The advent of intramurals brings us around once more to where we started the year, let me call it the "Ciarla" year, from April 1, 1934, to the same date in 1935, and as the date approaches we must sign off for another class to carry on.

This is but an extremely sketchy resume of a year crowded with events, of a year marking group activities in great numbers, of a fine athletic year, a fine forensic year and a year of outstanding social programs.

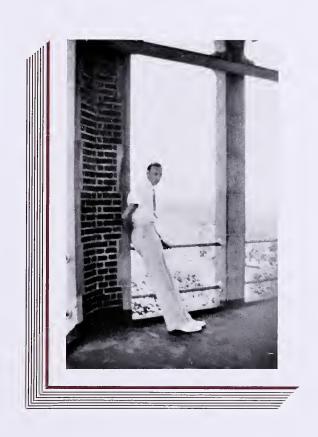

With the selection of a commencement speaker for the class of 1935, the end is seen to draw nigh, although another Spring awaits the student body, another Spring and another year which will, no doubt, be quite as bountiful of pleasure as was the last, and which will furnish quite as much to talk about, quite as much to remember, and quite as much to forget.

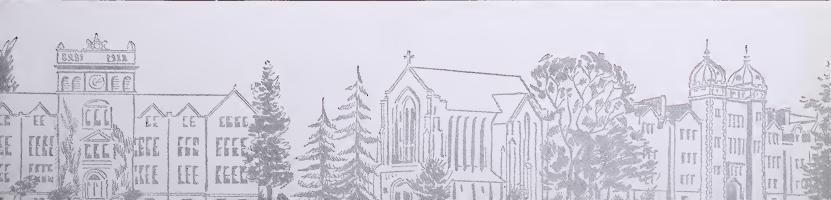

It is with regret that we cannot continue this bit of informality, but sooner or later the "Ciarla" must go to press, and the editor of this column has no desire of incurring further wrath by holding it up a bit longer. Au revoir.
